

Opening of a New Church at Kingscourt.

The solemn opening of the new Church of the Immaculate Conception at Kingscourt is announced to take place to-morrow. The Most Reverend Dr. Nulty, Lord Bishop of Meath, will preside, and the sermon will be preached by the Most Reverend Dr. Lynch, Coadjutor Bishop of Kildare. We are sure that an occasion so full of the highest interest will attract an extraordinary concourse. The new church is spoken of as "a gem of architecture," and our knowledge of the taste and zeal of the good pastor of Kingscourt, the Reverend Peter O'Reilly, is to us a guarantee that this gratifying eulogy does not overleap the truth. In Father O'Reilly our country has a faithful son, and the Church of God a priest whom we cordially congratulate on the success of his pious labour in its honour.